

The concept of this home was simple and uncluttered with clean lines and an uninterrupted view of the lake. The focus was to be on comfort and functionality that would fit their family perfectly.....

A leathered finish bar in the lower level is a specialty finish most commonly applied to dark-colored granite and results in a rough, "river-washed appearance" that is reminiscent of leather material. Lacking any kind of shine, leathered granite is known for hiding fingerprints and smudges well.

The homeowners mother's table can be found in the wine room along with a "lakescape" painting and of course wine
